Repeat after me:“We don’t have to live how the corporations want us to live. They don’t own us!”

The world is dying and it is entirely our own fault. It is not us that will face the harshest consequences, but our future generations as they will have to bear the burden of what we did to the planet. We fished the sea empty, we polluted the rivers and we killed the bees. Most of us can say ‘well I didn’t do that!’ but we are all part of the chain.

Everybody nowadays seems to want cheaper and easier ways to live comfortable lives. We all want cheaper food from supermarkets and cheaper furniture and technology from corporations that slowly destroy the world we live in. They pump the ground full of chemicals, they chop down all the trees and they fill the air with gasses and pollutants from fossil fuels. It doesn’t have to be that way.
